At the commencement of the complaint the symptoms are those of an ordinary cold. The mose is stopped up. The edges are red and swollen, there is a frequent desire to sneeze, accompanied by a discharge of acrid water, afterwards becoming thick yellowish, perhaps offensive matter. It escapes not only by the nose but passes into the throat, requiring frequent hawking, scraping and spitting for its removal, and few need to be reminded of the difficulty they have found in removing such a mass, when sticking, (as they often express it) at the back of the roof of the mouth, just where they cannot reach it. As the disease progresses, the watery portions of the discharge evaporate, and the parts are encrusted with tough green scabs or hardened lumps. One side of these green scabs is covered with grey pus, sometimes streaked with blood, or enclosing flakes of home, which are thrown off by ulceration as the disease progresses. The breath has an excessively fetid and sickening edor, so offensive as to render the patient an object of disgust to himself, as well as others. It is terrible, to, what an extent the disease may progress. We have seen the bones of the nose entirely destroyed.

The nose may be filled, necessitating respiration through the mouth, causing the lungs to become weak and invitable, the voice to lose its power and musical quality, the sense of the small becomes impaired, or entirely lost, while theyense of taste is more or less affected. Occasionally while blowing the nose, a creaking sound is heard in the ears, and hearing becomes thick or stopped up, but returns suddenly with something like a snapping sound.

ing is the text of the president's message vetoing the judicial expenses bill:

To the House of Representatives:
After careful examination of the bill entitled "An act making appropriations for certain judicial expenses," I return it herewith to the house of representatives, in which it originated, with the following objections to its approval:
The general purpose of the bill is to provide for certain judicial expenses of the government forthe fiscal year ending June 30th, 1880, for which the sum of $2,690,000 is appropriated. These appropriations are required to keep in operation the general required to keep in operation the general functions of the judicial department of the government, and if this part of the bill stood alone there would be no objection to its approval. It contains, however, other provisions to which I desire respectfully provisions to which I desire respectfully to ask your attention.

At the present session of congress a majority of both houses favoring the repeal of the congressional election laws, embraced in title twenty-six of the revised statutes, passed a measure for that purpose as part of a bill entitled. "An Act Making Appropropriations for the Legislative, executive and judicial expenses of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1880, and for other purposes. Unable to concur with congress on that measure, on the 20th of May last I returned the bill to the house of representatives. In which to the house of representatives, in which it originated, without my approval, for their further consideration, for which the constitution provides. On consideration, the bill their further consideration, for which the constitution provides. On consideration, the bill was approved by less than two-thirds of the house and failed to become a law. The election laws therefore remain the same and the house and binding the lead the approved by the lead the same law of the lead to the lead to the same law of the lead to and the supreme law of the land binding and the supreme law of the land binding not only upon all private citizens but also alike and equally binding upon all who are charged with the duties and responsibilities of the legislative, indicial and executive departments of the government. It is not sought by the bill before me to repeal the election laws. Its object is to defeat their enforcement. The last clause of the first sections is a The last clause of the first sections is as follows: "And no part of the money hereby appropriated is appropriated to pay any salaries or compensation fees or expenses under or in virtue of title 26 of the revised statutes, or of any provision of said title."

Title 26 of the revised statutes referred to Title 25 of the revised statutes referred to the foregoing clause relates to the elective franchise, and contains the laws now in force regulating congressional elections. The second section of the bill reaches much further. It is as follows: Sec 2. "That sums appropriated in this act for the persons and public services embraced in its provisions are in full for such persons and public services for the fiscal year ending June 30th 30th, 1880, and no department or officer of the government shall. ending June 30th 1600, and no department or officer of the government shall, during said fiscal year, make any contract or incur any liability for the future payment of money under any of the provisions of title 26 of the revised statutes of the United States authorizing the appointment or payment of special deputy mar election day, until an appropriation suf-ficient to meet such contract or pay such flubthity shall first have been made by law.

This section of the bill is intended to

This section of the bill is intended to make an extensive and essential change it existing laws. The following are the provisions of the statutes on the same thereof the control of the statutes on the same thereof the control of the same thereof the control of the government shall expend, in any one fiscal year, any sum in excess of the appropriations made by congress for that fiscal year, or involve the government in any control of the future payment of money of the first which are the government of the United States shall be made unless the same is authorized by law, or is under an approthorized by law, or is under an appropriation adequate to its fulfillment, except in the war and navy departments, for clothing, subsistence forage, fuel, quarters or transportation, which, however, shall not exceed the necessities however, shall not exceed the necessities of the current year.

The object of these sections of the revised statutes is plain. It is, first, to prevent any money from being expended unless appropriations have been made therefar, and, second, to prevent the government from being bound by any contract not previously suthorized by law, except for certain necessary purpose in the war and navy department. Under existing laws the failure of congress to make the appropriations re-sufficient to pay such liability shall have first been made. The president is called upon to give his affirmative approval to positive enactments, which are sufficient to deprive him of the ordinary and necessary means of executing the laws still left on the statute book and embraced within his constitutional duty to see that the laws are executed. If he approves the bill and thus gives to such positive enactments the authority of law, he participates in the curtailment of his means of seeing that the law is faithfully executed while the obligation of law and his constitutional duty remains unimpaired. The appointment of special deputy marshals is not made by statute. It is a spontaneous act of authority on the part of any executive or judicial officer of the government, that is accorded as the popular right of citizens to call into operation this agency for securing the freedom of elections in any city or town having 20,000 inhabitants and upward.

Section 2,021 of the revised statutes puts it in the power of any two citizens of such city or town to require of the marshal of the district the appointment of these deputy marshals. Thereupon the duty of the marshal becomes imperative. Its nonperformance will expose him to judicial mandate or punishment, or to removal from office by the president, as the circumstances of his conduct might require. The bill now before me neither revokes this popular right of citizens nor relieves the marshals of the duty imposed by law, nor the president of his duty to see that this law is faithfully executed.

I forbear to enter again upon any general discussion of the wisdom or necessity of the election laws, or the dangerous and unconstitutional principle of this bill. The power vested in congress to originate appropriations involves the right to compel the executive to approve any legislation which congress may see It to attach to such bills, under the penalty of refusing the meney needed to carry out the essential functions of the government. My views on this subject have been washington. June 23.—The following is the text of the presentative during the present session. What was said in those messages I regard as conclusive as to my duty in respect to the bill before me. The arguments in those communications against the repeal of the election laws and a jain state of the election laws and a jungment which the constitution confers and requires are equally cogent in opposition to this bill.

This measure leaves the powers and duties of supervisors of elections untouched. The compensation of those officers is provided for under permanent laws and no liability, for which an appropriation is provided for under permanent laws and no liability, for which an appropriation is provided for under permanent to protect them in the discharge of their away. The states may employ both civil and military authority at elections, but by this bill even civil authority to protect United States. The object is fixed to the any adequate control by the United States over national elections by forbidding the payment of deputy marshals, officers who are clothed with authority to enforce the election laws. The fact that these laws are payment of deputy marshals, officers who are clothed with authority to enforce the election laws. The fact that these laws are deemed objectionable by the majority of both houses of congress urged as sufficient warrant for this legislation. There are two lawful ways to overturn legislative enactments. One is to repeal, and the other is the decision of a competent tribunal against their validity: The effect of this bill is to deprive the executive department of the government of the meant to execute laws which are not repealed, which have not been declared invalid and which it is therefore the duty of the executive of every other department of the government to obey and to enforce. I have in my former message on this subject expressed a willingness to concur in suitable amendments for the improvement of the election laws, but I cannot consent to their absolute and entire repeal, and I cannot approve legisentire repeal, and I cannot approve legis lation which seems to prevent their en-RUTHERFORD B. CATARRH AND ITS CONSEQUENCES.

At the commencement of the complaint the symptoms are those of an ordinary cold. The nose is stopped up. The edges are red and swollen, there is a frequent desire to sneeze, accompanied by a discharge of acrid water, afterwards becoming thick yellowish, perhaps offensive matter. It escapes not only by the nose but passes into the throat, requiring frequent hawking, scraping and spitting for its removal, and few need to be reminded of the difficulty they have found in of the roof of the mouth, just where they cannot reach it. As the disease progresses, the watery portions of the discharge evaporate, and the parts are encrusted with tough green scabs or hardened lumps. One side of these green scabs is covered with grey pus, sometimes streaked with blood, or enclosing flakes of bone, which are thrown off by ulceration as the disease progresses. The breath has an excessively fetid and sickening odor, so offensive as to render the patient an object of disgust to himself, as well as others. It is terrible to what an extent the disease may progress. We have seen the bones of the nose entirely destroyed.

The nose may be filled, necessitating respiration through the mouth, caus ing the lungs to become weak and irritable, the voice to lose its power and musical quality, the sense of the smell becomes impaired, or entirely lost, while the sense of taste is more or less aflected. Occasionally while blowing the nose, a creaking sound is heard in the ears, and hearing becomes thick or stopped up, but returns suddenly with something like a snapping sound. This may be repeated several times until hearing does not return but remains permanently injured. In other cases hearing is lost so gradually that a considerable degree of deafness may exist before the person is really aware of the fact. Either condition is often accompanied with noises in the head of every conceivable description, increasing the distress of the sufferer. The eyes are apt to become weak and irritable, and disposed to water on exposure to wind, or after slight exertion; pain more or less acute, or a feeling of pressure, is experienced over the eyes, on the top or back of the head, or in the face, memory is weakened, and the disposition rendered irritable and morose, the appetite is capricious and the stomach weak and irritable. Or, instead of following the course just described, Catarrh may assume a train of different symptoms. Instead of crusts and scabs the discharge remains starchlike, yellow or semi-transparent, the hawking continues, the back of the throat as seen through the mouth, may be pale, of a dark red color, while its surface is studded with pimples or slight ulcers, resembling canker spots, for which they are often mistaken. The voice becomes affected, especially by exposure to cold or by over exertion tenderness of the windpipe is felt on pressure, and a burning sensation of the throat is often felt, as the disease progresses downward. At last tightness across the chest, or a burning prickling, distressed sensation, tell us that the bronchial tubes have become

Bronchitis, Consumption, Coming on from a neglected cold, the patient hawks, hems, and perhaps has a tickling, hacking cough. The voice becomes hoarse on over exertion. The back of the throat looks pale, dark red or cankered, but not very sore. Next comes tightness, prickling, or an un-comfortable feeling across the chest as the bronchial tubes become affected; the expectorations may be ropy or yellowish as the cough is increased and slight wheezing is detected. The neglected disease extends and the minute air cells of which there are two millions in each lung, become affected; occasionally pains shoot through the lungs, perhaps dull distress under the shoulder blade, or collar bone; tuberals are deposited; they soften; they ulcerate; night sweats, emaciation. hectic fever, increased cough, shortness of breath, bleeding from the lungs, death. Yet every case of bronchitis, and every case of consumption can be cured if treated in time, and no one on earth can prove this statement false.

My success in the treatment of there Maladies is a matter of public record and it affords me the livliest satisfaction to state that the patients treated belong to the best and most intelligent class of citizens. In the course of my practice I have had brought before me many difficult and some seemingly hopeless cases of chronic diseases. I do not assert that my success has been universal, yet I do say it has indeed been great. The cures I have achieved have been publicly vouched for in the most grateful terms by well-known parties, whose word is a guarantee of truth. Their testimony furnishes the best evidence of skill that physician can produce.

The investigations set on foot by the Indianapolis and Cincinnati papers demonstrate the fact that Senator McDonal o spoke the truth when he charged that the Massachusetts troops voted in Indianapolis during the war and having surrounded the polls, drove democrats away and prevented them from voting. The Indianapolis Scattinel rightly describes that period as a "reign of terror."

During a dance one of this sharp shooters engaged in a quarrel with Velnoy Clark, a visitor and after using him up pretty badly had him ejected from the ground. He shared his grievance to the crown outside the gates and gaining some sympathy they inaugurated an indiscriminate throwing of stones into the enclosure where the pinein was being held. The lieutenant of the company, Frank Ladweic, ordered the long roll simulated, the bayonets fixed, and a charge was immediately made towards the gate and the crowd were bayoneted and sabered until they fell back. The company reformed ditistic the gate in a single line facing the street, and loading their guiss fired a volley into the orived. They immediately reloaded and again fired, each sharpshooter picking his man. It is stated three or four volleys were fired in all.

The weapona' used were muzzle-leading Springfield muskets, the cartridge being composed of nine backshots each. "About a dozen men were weatheded, and three are said to have since died. As soon as the affair became known two squads of police repaired to the scene and arcested the whole company. They formed in marching order tuner the American flag and proceeded to West Madision street, where they are now incareated on a charge of mixther, and guarded by a heavy detachment of police. Seventy-five percent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAR. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are some oleaginous mixture or poleonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to orie all itching and scaly diseases that inflame and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

Mesars. Weeks & Portise: Gendemen—
I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandring fight in their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was to their prescriptions who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctored for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try Curicura, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment; in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all salt Rheulin and Dandrin, and I cannot see any appearance of Salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy.

Saturday, June 21.—SENATE.—Mr. Slater addressed the senate on the bill regulating intercoures with Chinese subjects. The conference committee's report on the judicial expenses bill was adopted by a party vote. Resolutions were adopted authorizing an investigation into the Ingalis case. HQUSE—Mr. Cobb made a personal explanation regarding the statements of the Indianapolis Journal about the Massachimetts regiment, which gave rise to a two hours' debate. The army appropriation bill was signed by the speaker, and the house proceeded to the consideration of the political assessment bill.

THE democratic three-legged in Ohio is proof against a bloody shirt campaign. THE investigations set on foot by the Indianapolis and Cincinnati papers demonstrate the fact that Senator McDonald spoke the truth when he charged that the Massachusetts troops voted in Indianapolis during the war and having surrounded the polls, drove democrats away and prevented them from voting. The Indianapolis Sentinel rightly describes that period as a "reign of terror." HAYES has made a complete back down. He signs the army bill which contains substantially all that the democrats have fought for on the troops question. One republican -BURNSIDE-voted for this bill in the senate and GARFIELD and other republicans did the same thing in the house. HAYES tries to cover his retreat by his veto of the judicial expenses bill. In this matter he shows himself willing to stop all the federal courts in the country, cease the execution of the laws and the administration of justice, merely because congress declines to pay fed-elections.

The current of recent events has given great impetus to business in Wall street, and many successful turns are reported where immense profits are made in short periods. The most successful way that we have heard of yet for operating in stocks, is by the combination method of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, New York. By this system thousands of orders in various sums are pooled into one vast capital and operated under the most experienced and skillful management, thus securing to each shareholder superior advantages and profits, not possible in any other way. Profits are paid at the end of 30 days. A gentleman in Boston, made $757,30 on an investment of $100. Many others are doing as well or better. Capital in any amount from $10 to $100,000 can be used with equal proportionate success by this combination or co-operative method. $15 would make $75 or 4 percent on the stock; $100 would return $900, or 9 percent during the month, and so on according to the market. Did you ever, Mr. Editor, as I have no doubts that most of your readers have, ever have the mortification of experiencing the heartless incredulity with which your explanation of how it came about was received by the average citizen? What, never? Well,

If, in the exercise of your prerogative as the head of a family, while engaged in splitting wood in the back yard, or gathering clothes pine, or performing some other domestic duty, the ax slipped, an unobserved clothes line abruptly intruded upon you, or any other untoward event occurred to temporarily mar your physical beauty, when you truthfully explained it to the anxious inquiries, did they ever believe you? Changing my course, after these mishaps, I became the unwilling mediator in an exciting theological discussion between Dr. Stone and Rev. A Choice Collection of Congenial Spirite,

The grand army of the republic was reviewed at the city hall this morning by Col. Zollinger preparatory to vited the conductor to go to Egppt or the grand exhibition to be given on some other tropical country, that he the grand exhibition to be given on the Fourth of July.

John Obertson was drunk, very drunk. Guttermuth gathered him in; John put up $8.00. John didn't appear. John's $8.00 went down. Good bye John.

Geo. Hoffman came to town Saturday with a bran new buggy. After the exhibition the team went to the livery stable and George went to the calaboose where he remarked New York a number of times and then put up $20.00 for his appearance. That $20.00, however, is a goner.

Enoch Josylin was drunk on Saturday night, so he laid down in a wagon to resuscitate. He snored, and he snored with such a vehemence that it lifted Officer O'Connel clean off his feet, and he thought some one was trying to blow Pete Koehlinger's safe. John braced up and walked Mr. Josylin in. Owing to pressing business on the farm the mayor told Enoch to ship. He did so. Emil Renot Renot sometimes free open air concerts. is only done under peculiar circumstances. The circumstances oc curred on Saturday night, and the concert took place at the same time. After a few selections, an aria from the "Bohemian Girl," etc., Emil retired to the green room, accompanied by chief usher O'Connell. He was running the concert on the percentage plan. The city's share of the proceeds was $8. Walter Payne is a sailor sometimes, and sometimes he ain't. Just now he ain't. He is just now engaged in wearing out a pair of shoes trying to put 400 miles between him and Fort Wayne before sundown. • He is going to meet his sisters, and his cousins, and his aunts in Chicago. He won't come here any more, never, no, never. James Ferrin for taking up too much sidewalk, paid a special tax of Mrs. Hess and Chas. Skatulla found their affinities. There was too much affinity per acre for the good of the city, and $10 was considered the amount which the fun was worth.

Gotlieb Shaffer had some trouble of a domestic nature. On Saturday his wife took his money away from him. This vexed Shaffer, but he didn't get real mad though until yesterday afternoon. Then he raised thunder, locked his wife and children out doors and did some loud talking. Ten dollars. Chas. Brown, John Williams, Wm. Bird and Jack Clark were bad and naughty; so were Mrs. Van Dolah and Minnie Harrod. The "girls," as Colerick sweetly called them, were shown footings on his statements, amounting to $12 each. S. McCarthy, John Geist, James Williams, James Smith and Frank line is located and about ready for wo Thompson were arrested on Saturday from Columbus to the Auglaize cou night by a posse of peelers for playing some kind of a game where a feltered at the Mayer and Tremont low gives $20 for a whole lot of little buttons; then looks at some pictures catur, Ind., thence to Fort Wayn on a table, lays down a pile of buttons and thence to Lake Michigan, at S and in a minute says "Godamit," and another fellow takes the buttons. to have a bad rep. They had no statement to make. The mayor had the their appearance. Cash! Harry Dryer and John Morse went into the Globe yesterday and wanted sherry and egg; but they couldn't get it. Then they wanted claret, and showed a strong disposition to draw it from the bar-tender's proboscis. The An interesting temperance meeting bar-tender didn't have anyon draught, and it was Sunday, anyhow; so he sent for Lieut. Wilkinson. The boys were given the privilege of putting up or going up, and they said they'd be d-d if they'd do either. Frank, however, with a little assistance, perstraded them to take a bath in the commodation. This may appear rather steep, but they stopped at a high-toned house.

Mrs. McFeely was up for hindering immense interest in the coming Fourth | the officers of the law in the perforof July celebration. The attendance | mances of their duties in that she gave the alarm to the boys upstairs in her place when the police made the raid last Saturday night. Continued

"PUNCH WITH CARE.", But Look out for the Pugns

Conductaire. Conductor Bonter while returning with his train from Rome City last evening asked a booze-stricken individual for his ticket. The b.-s. i. in had punched all the holes in his ticket he was going to punch and refused to give up his ticket or even show it. Bonter finally got the ticket away from him, and shortly afterward the fellow followed him into the front car with a knife, threatening to cut him. The knife was taken away from him and he was kept in the baggage car until the arrival of the train in this city when he was handed over to the authorities. To-day, being sober and very penitent, he was, at the request of Conductor Bonter. released on condition that he pull for Wabash instanter. Folks down town saw a misty apparition float by this morning about 9 o'clock, and it is supposition that it was the spirit of the gentleman bound for Wabash.

In the morning Bonter was obliged to put a head on another young gentleman named Jim Stron for locking himself in the water closet, refusing to come out and suggesting that Bonter was of canine extraction. Bonter will soon become known to dead beats as a bad, bad man.
